Who is the President of the ECR Party?

Mateusz Morawiecki

Former Prime Minister of Poland, President of ECR Party

Mateusz Jakub Morawiecki (born 20 June 1968 in Wrocław, Poland) is a Polish economist, banker, manager, and politician. He has served as President of the European Conservatives and Reformists Party since 14 January 2025, and is also Vice President of the Law and Justice party (PiS).

Before assuming European leadership, Morawiecki held key positions in the Polish government. He served as Prime Minister of Poland from 2017 to 2023, following senior roles including Deputy Prime Minister (2015–2017), Minister of Development, Minister of Finance, and Member of the Polish Parliament since 2019.

Mateusz Morawiecki studied history at the University of Wrocław and subsequently completed advanced business and economics studies, including a Master of Business Administration and postgraduate programmes in European law and economic integration at institutions such as the University of Hamburg, the University of Basel, and the Kellogg School of Management at Northwestern University.

Before entering public office, he had a distinguished career in banking and management, including serving as CEO of Bank Zachodni WBK and participating in financial and economic projects. As a public figure, he combines experience in economic policy, government leadership, and international engagement, with a record spanning both public administration and private sector expertise.

Role of the President of the ECR Party

Leadership rooted in values, responsibility, and international engagement.

The President of the ECR Party plays a central role in shaping the Party's political direction and external presence by:

Mission

- Representing the Party on the international stage and in key transatlantic forums.
- Providing strategic leadership and political coordination across the ECR Party, ensuring coherence between national delegations, European institutions, and international partners.
- Promoting republican and conservative values, alongside a vision of a sovereign, strong, and competitive Europe.
- Organising and participating in high-level political events, panels, and conferences, while maintaining an active presence in traditional and digital media.

Video Messages and Outreach

Presence, even when distance made it necessary

Due to the intensity of his schedule, the President of the ECR Party was not always able to attend every conference in person. To underline the importance of these initiatives and to support the conservative and republican community, he regularly addressed participants through recorded video messages, presented during events.

Cooperation with the New Direction Foundation

Values beyond politics.

The President of the ECR Party also places strong emphasis on non-political activities aimed at strengthening republican and conservative values. He therefore participated in meetings of the New Direction Foundation and supported events organised by the Foundation.

Media Engagement

A consistent voice in European and global debate.

In 2025, the President gave numerous interviews on European and global affairs to leading international media outlets, including Politico, Euronews, Newsmax, and the Financial Times, as well as to national media across EU Member States, including Italian, Romanian, Hungarian, and Polish outlets.
